Fingerprints Found On Car Left After $500,000 Robbery

MONTREAL (CP)—Police continued lifting fingerprints early today from an automobile believed used by thieves in a mail burglary at Montreal International Airport which netted them an estimated $500,000.

Police said the 1965 car was found behind the airport in suburban Dorval following the burglary early Thursday.

All but one of 20 postal employees were on a break at the airport's post office building when thieves broke into a safe cage used to store registered mail overnight.

District Postmaster Hector Cormier of Montreal said mail containing "less than $500,000" in cash and valuables was stolen while Dorval police estimated the amount as between $500,000 and $750,000.

One man was believed still missing. Ten persons were injured but most were released from hospital after treatment.

The fire continued to smolder today, more than 12 hours after the initial blast, heard over most of the western end of Montreal Island, and subsequent less severe blasts.

LaSalle police headquarters said seven bodies were found in the Monsanto Canada Ltd. plant. However, reports from the scene, where telephone communications were out, said nine and possibly 10 bodies were recovered.

Monsanto today issued a statement saying the explosion and fire were caused by a "chemical reaction going out of control despite the application of emergency equipment and procedures."

B.C. Economy Threatened

VANCOUVER (CP)—Premier W. A. C. Bennett said Thursday that all sectors of the British Columbia economy must practise restraint or else there will be a crash.

"I am not warning now. I am not suggesting now. This is a must. Restraint must be practised and it must be practised now."

The remarks, made in a telephone interview from Fredericton, N.B., were the strongest to date on inflationary forces in his home province.

He talked of bankers, businessmen and unions all seeking more money and profits, and said he would "name" offending groups in B.C. if they don't comply with his request for restraint.

"Anybody who doesn't is a fifth columnist."

He castigated labor leaders for asking too large wage increases, bankers who would push interest rates up in a period of tight money, and businessmen who want exorbitant profits.

"I say to them all—bankers, businessmen and labor unions—if the hat fits, wear it. We must practise restraint now or it will lead to a crash."

"This isn't the time for anybody to grab the limit. The people yell at government to settle and the first thing you know, the economy has gone bust."

Overtime Ban A Little Early

An already-in-effect ban on overtime working in government departments may be depriving some students of textbooks.

orders because it is not allowed to work overtime.

"Furthermore, the last word we had, was not to expect the books for awhile because we were way behind the list of people ordering," Mr. Greer said.

Premier Bennett recently announced he would introduce a bill in the legislature to ban overtime in the province. As far as school officials in the Kelowna area can find out, the ban is already in effect in government departments.

A supplementary order of textbooks—which should have arrived a month ago—still has not come and some students don't have their textbooks, six weeks after school opening, P. C. Greer, principal of George Elliot Secondary School, informed the school board Thursday night.

Mr. Greer is not the only principal worried about the delay. William Hawker, principal of Dr. Knox Secondary School, says the non-arrival of the books is "making me hot under the collar."

"The only reason the principals have been able to unearth for the delay is a claim by the textbook branch that it cannot fulfill its present site."

Dr. Knox Secondary School was hardest hit by the shortage. The main textbook order is sent in the spring but a supplementary order is usually made in the fall. The supplementary order is normally filled in one to two weeks.

This fall the books were ordered Sept. 12.

Fred Macklin, school board secretary-treasurer, said he had inquired about the late books and received conflicting reports of why they were delayed.

"One reason was the ban on overtime. But we were also told the textbook branch was working overtime off the record."

"The reasons for the delay are still obscure but at last word all the orders had been completed and dispatched and should arrive here by the end of this week," Mr. Macklin said.

Cypriots Attack Canadians

NICOSIA (Reuters)—The United Nations Emergency Force commander, Finnish Gen. Armas-Eino Martola, said today he will lodge a strong protest with Turkish-Cypriot leaders after an alleged attack on two Canadian soldiers by four armed Turkish-Cypriots.

The two Canadians were on routine patrol Thursday in the Kyrenia Mountains—an area disputed by Turkish and Greek-Cypriots—when they were attacked, a UN spokesman said.

The Canadians were disarmed after a struggle, physically assaulted, and kept prisoner for a half an hour before their weapons were returned and they were released, the spokesman said.

The Rotary-sponsored Civic Administration Day has been scheduled for Oct. 24 this year. On that day, students will be scattered among eight businesses and institutions, getting a first-hand look at the operations of each.

Students from the Kelowna Secondary School and the Immaculate High School are participating in the program, the 14th annual Civic Administration Day in Kelowna.

Ald. L. A. N. Patterson, organizer of the project, said today the students "are going to work, just as if it was their first day on a new job."

"All day they work beside regular job holders who make a special effort to explain the essential purposes and methods of their jobs. At the end of the day, the students have acquired insight into the workings of the city," Mr. Patterson said.

A junior mayor and council is elected by the students and the group attends a regular council meeting Monday night.

The other students can choose to visit the city hall or the provincial building, where they assume such roles as city clerk or city engineer or controller. At the provincial building, two students will work with the fisheries biologist while a couple more study the conservation officer job.

The remaining students will spend the day at either the Kelowna Daily Courier, the Kelowna General Hospital, CKOW radio, CHBC-TV, the RCMP, the Kelowna Fire Hall,

DENTAL HYGIENIST IRENE JORDAN AND FRIEND
... Sheriff Toby Rides

SUGAR BOWL'S IN TOWN

Germs Are Holed-Up So Sheriff Toby Rides

Puppets will be used by dental hygienists to teach good dental health in a new program in elementary schools next month.

Irene Jordan, dental hygienist, will carry the work out in School District 23 (Kelowna) while D. M. Gunther carries out a similar program in School District 22 (Vernon).

Phase one began two years ago with dental hygienist Diane Rothwell in School District 15 (Penticton).

Dr. A. S. Gray, regional dental consultant in Kelowna, said the new program will consist of teeth examinations and educational talks in elementary grades and an adult educational program through the news media and by talks to organizations.

The dental hygienist will examine the children's teeth at school and send a card home to the parents indicating whether treatment is required.

The parents can then decide whether they wish to approach their own dentist to have the work done.

"The new program will put an even greater patient load on dentists," Dr. Gray said, "however it is only greater patient demand which will induce more dentists to move into the region."

The program will be carried out in Grades 1, 3, 5 and 7. The next two years will tell whether the use of dental hygienists promoting dental health in schools to students and their parents, will raise the level of dental health at all age levels," Dr. Gray said.

PREVENTION

"The aim of a good dental health program is to prevent the premature loss of teeth through dental disease."

Dr. Gray said the program will also teach students proper eating habits and home care.

Miss Jordan will use two puppets in the lower grades, a life-like tooth brush called Sheriff Toby Bright and the bad guy Sugar Bowl Pete, to illustrate her talks.

In the upper grades Miss Jordan will conduct simple lab tests with the students to illustrate dental hygiene.

"We hope the new dental program will stimulate interest in good oral hygiene among both students and adults," Dr. Gray said.

Dr. Gray said after a two-year similar program in Penticton, Grade 1 students in good dental health leaped from 44 per cent in 1964 to 62 per cent in 1966. Those in the neglect category were reduced from 38 per cent in 1964 to 20 per cent in 1966.

SHOWS DROP

In 1964 more than 39 per cent had one or more teeth extracted by a dentist by the age of six. In 1966 this percentage had been reduced to 23 per cent.

Miss Jordan is a native of Calgary. She graduated from the school of dental hygiene at the University of Alberta in 1964. She worked in the public health field in Alberta before arriving in Kelowna about two months ago. Her office is in the Kelowna Health Centre, where she will be working with the South Okanagan Health Unit.

Sunny . . .

The weatherman is holding out hope of a sunny weekend.

Forecast for this afternoon predicted cloudy periods with some showers expected tonight.

However, Saturday was expected to be sunny with little change in temperatures. Low to night and high Saturday forecast was 32 and 55.

Temperatures overnight dipped to 35 from a high of 55, a bit colder than on the same day last year which saw a high of 60 dropping to only 44 overnight.

First Steel On Plant Site As Truck Firm Marks Progress

Work is progressing on the $4,000,000 plant for White Truck Manufacturing Ltd. (Kelowna) on Highway 97, with structural steel arriving on the site.

Gene Werner, of Denver, president of the contracting firm of Werner-Herbertson of Canada Ltd., said earlier work on the project could be delayed a week to 10 days because of the national railway strike.

One of the men on the job said Thursday the first steel for the framework for the plant section began arriving Wednesday. Some of the flooring is also installed. The structural steel contract was let to Dominion Bridge Company Ltd. of Vancouver.

The masonry walls of the office section are up to 12-feet in height in some sections.

The construction, employing some 40 men mostly from Kelowna, is a single-storey structure with 36,000 square feet of floor space for manufacturing and an office wing of 8,000 square feet.

The $4,000,000 cost includes the land, building and machinery.

Immaculata Leads Way

There is one school in Kelowna that is going all out for the membership drive for the musical group Jeunesses Musicales.

From a student body of 160, the Immaculata High School has come up with 120 student memberships.

Rev. Francis Goddard, principal and president of Jeunesses Musicales, said his Grade 11 class had joined 100 per cent. The Grade 12 class was only two short of having 100 per cent.

"I am happy with the response," Father Goddard said. A membership drive is being held in all schools in the district but Father Goddard said the result will not be known until Oct. 18 when an executive meeting is held.

Jeunesses Musicales fosters good musical education among adults and children. Top artists and rising young talented performers are brought to Kelowna to present "live" concerts in the Community Theatre.

On a national scale Jeunesses Musicales, through competitions for young artists to help them financially with their careers, has provided another $150 to be given out in Kelowna next month. Nov. 25 and 26. The third will be Feb. 8 and the final concert on March 8.

Artist Contest Entries Grow

Entries are coming in for the Okanagan Historical Society centennial artist contest, Nigel Pooley, contest chairman, said today. Deadline for entries is Oct. 15.

The contest is open to any amateur in B.C., but the subject of the painting must be an old building in the Okanagan-Similkameen area and be of historical interest.

To date 18 entries from the Kelowna area have been received by Mrs. T. B. Upton.

There are other receiving points for other Valley centers.

Mrs. Gwen Lamont of Okanagan Mission is the judge. The prize money is $150 will be given out Nov. 25 and 26. The society has provided another $150 to purchase a number of the paintings at $25 each for exhibition purposes.

The purpose of the contest is to encourage the painting of old buildings. Any media may be used—oil, water color, or pastel.

CAR, TRUCK CRASH

No injuries were reported to a car and truck collision on Highway 97 at Hartwood road, water color on paper, by Mrs. T. B. Upton.

The work will be judged on Oct. 22, 23, 24, 25, and 26. The contest is open to all residents of the Okanagan-Similkameen area. The prize money is $150 will be given out Nov. 25 and 26. The society has provided another $150 to purchase a number of the paintings at $25 each for exhibition purposes.

THE KELOWNA and District United Appeal today almost reaches the $10,000 mark. Campaign chairman Reg. Shank said $9,800 has been collected to date. This is up from $8,000 Thursday.

Unique Plans For Scout Year To Be Discussed

Several unique plans for scouting activities during the coming year were expected to be discussed Tuesday at the annual meeting and banquet of the Central Okanagan Boy Scout District Council.

Council president Bob Ostapchuk said the gathering is open to all parents of the 700 boys involved in Cub Scouts and Scouts in the district as well as any other interested persons.

He hinted at a varied and new list of activities which were expected to be proposed at the meeting.

Other business would include the appointment of new officers for the district council.

The banquet starts at 6 p.m. in the Royal Anne Hotel.

PROGRAM FORMAT

Ol' Bill In The Colonies

Wild Bill Shakepeare and the Free Hee house.

That is what is on the program for secondary school students Oct. 24.

The University Women's Club of Kelowna is sponsoring a "Live-act program" by the Holiday Playhouse at the Kelowna Secondary School at 12:20 p.m.

Wild Bill and the Free Hee house sound like an unlikely title for a classical presentation. But the play's title is part of a classical presentation. The play is a comedy, written by Canadian playwright, Eric Hobsbawm, and is being presented by the Holiday Playhouse.

The script for Wild Bill was devised by David Brock. In the play, incidents from colonial life and B.C.'s wild west days are combined with scenes from Shakespeare and Moliere.

The result says Mr. William Cleaver, UWC publicity officer, is "entertaining, exciting live theatre."

The play is directed by Joe Coghill, who played in Big Soft Nails for the Vancouver Festival this summer. The Holiday Playhouse is a touring company of Canadian actors and actresses who are touring the province.

Board Gets Anxious On Traffic Problems

JUST ONE WEEK TO T-DAY — OR THE PENALTY IS PAID

Kelowna ratepayers have one more week to pay up. Taxes must be paid on or before Oct. 21 or the 10 per cent penalty will be added.

Officials said those that have remitted earlier should check the amount paid making sure it is the full amount owing.

Kelowna in the past 10 years has boasted among the best prompt tax payment records of any city in Canada.

Police Expenses Needed: Mayor

Increased RCMP costs, to be borne by B.C., are unfortunate but necessary Kelowna's Mayor R. F. Parkinson said Thursday.

Attorney-General Bonner announced Thursday B.C.'s share of RCMP costs in the province will increase by some $6,000,000 a year in the next decade.

Mr. Bonner said this will be the effect of a 10-year contract he has been authorized to sign with the federal justice department for RCMP costs.

Mr. Parkinson said Kelowna has not yet received any indication on what basis cost sharing will be between the municipality and the provincial government.

"Costs are rising everywhere in this affluent society. It is inevitable that RCMP costs, like taxes and groceries, should rise too," the mayor said.

Mr. Bonner said the new contract provides for both the provincial and federal governments to share costs on a bigger proportion of total policing costs than was previously the case.

The inclusion of cost items previously paid by the federal authorities will mean an immediate 25 per cent increase in B.C.'s share of providing police services, he said.

The province's share in the last fiscal year was $3,600,000. A revised cost sharing formula is included in the new contract. Previously, costs were split on a 60-40 basis.

Under the new agreement B.C. will pay 41 per cent this year and an additional one per cent per year until the contract expires.

This revision, plus the effect of projected increases in pay scales and manpower requirements, is expected to increase the province's share of costs in the 1975-76 fiscal year to $10,000,000, Bonner said.

The new agreement will be retroactive to last April.

Shortage Of School Buses Causes Problem In Kelowna

The school district is still struggling with a shortage of buses while rumors run rife about the reason for the delay.

School District 23 trustees Thursday night decided they are almost ready to cancel their contract with the company supplying the buses. The only thing holding the trustees back is the favorable price they received on their order.

But as one trustee remarked, "the 1967 buses will be on the market and we'll still be waiting for our 20 1966 buses."

The trustees could probably have buses here in a week—if they bought them at "inflated prices." One firm has buses available at $19,000, but this is $6,000 more per bus than the board is now paying.

A shortage of front axles—supposedly commandeered for the Viet Nam war—has been one excuse for the delay in arrival.

C. E. Sladen suggested the board's price on the buses was "too good" and the company is stalling in hope the board will cancel the order.

John Maddock said he has heard "via the grapevine" that the buses will never arrive.

LAY IT ON LINE

He suggested the board write to the company "and ask them for some honest answers. Lay it on the line—we want a definite date for the bus arrivals or we cancel the contract."

In the meantime the board's only consolation is other school districts are in the same difficulty.

Kelowna's strain was temporarily relieved earlier this month when a borrowed bus was obtained.

The relief was short-lived. The loaned bus operated here one half day before it was called home.

Lectures On Mental Health Begin Tonight In High School

The first of three lectures about mental health will be held tonight at the Kelowna Secondary School.

Three lectures and five workshops relating to topics in the field of mental health have been arranged free of charge by the Kelowna branch of the Canadian Mental Health Association.

Tonight Dr. P. J. Ney, Vancouver psychiatrist, is the guest lecturer.

His topic, special problems of the adolescent, has four main features of concern: self concept, a system of values, sexual identity, and vocational aspirations.

"Parental influences are most important for the adolescent and parents can help children to a positive achievement in these areas," Dr. Ney says.

Born in Nanaimo, Dr. Ney holds degrees from UBC and McGill University. He practised in London and in Montreal before coming to Vancouver.

While in Montreal, he worked with parents and children involved in the Family and Children's Court.

The lecture begins at 8 p.m. in Room 105 of the school.

Other lectures are scheduled for Oct. 29 and Oct. 27. Workshop sessions will be held in November.

Property Sales Again Show Jump

September property sales were up 44 per cent over those recorded during the same month last year, according to the multiple listing service of the Okanagan-Mainline Real Estate Board.

Sales for the month totalled $2,407,725 compared with $1,710,025 in September, 1965.

The service reported sales for the first nine months of the year continued to set a record pace, up 25 per cent over last year at $17,913,262.

In the same period last year which was the best previous sales year achieved by the multiple listing service sales totalled $14,359,531.

The number of properties sold in September was 202, bringing the year's total to 1,313 as compared with 1,177.

Listings, the number of properties offered for sale, remained almost unchanged for the nine month period at 3,557.

Burtch Road And Junction Still Concern Area Principals

Two chronic road problems popped back into school board business Thursday night, and school trustees decided to prod the city and the highways department for action.

A letter from the Dr. Knox Secondary School reminded trustees nothing has been done about Burtch Rd.

William Hawker, principal of Dr. Knox, said some 190 students use the road and it is in dangerous condition.

The road is narrow and has no shoulders for pedestrian traffic. The amount of traffic on the road has increased and "neither drivers nor pedestrians are as careful as they should be."

The city of Kelowna has looked into the road problem before and has come up with a plan to extend Lawrence Ave. in a straight line, cutting off Burtch Rd. and having the new road emerge on Highway 97 behind Haugs Building Supplies.

Mr. Hawker suggested the Kelowna and District Safety Council be made aware of the road's danger.

The school board will write the city reminding it of the problem.

The other road problem was raised by P.C. Greer, principal of George Elliot Secondary School.

ANOTHER DANGER

He called the junction of Woodsdale Rd. and Highway 97 "dangerous." The corner, which is used by school buses, is "absolutely blind" and action should be taken to correct the problem.

The highways department has already studied the corner but "with Premier Bennett's cut-back on spending, it could be years before anything is done," A. G. Pollard said.

The school board will send a letter to the highways department.

Symphony Orchestra Warmup Scheduled Here On Oct. 23

The Okanagan Valley Symphony Orchestra will hold its third practise session of the season Oct. 23 at 2 p.m. in the Kelowna Secondary School music room.

The orchestra is an amateur group of 30 musicians with members from Oliver to Kamloops. Conductor is Capt. Leonard Camplin of the Royal Canadian Engineers Band in Chilliwack.

New members are being sought and anyone playing an orchestral instrument is invited to attend the practise or concert.

Practice sessions are on a rotation basis between Kelowna, Vernon and Penticton.

Several Christmas concerts are being planned with assisting artists the chancel choir of Vernon United Church under the direction of Mrs. Jocelyn Pritchard.

Bus Driving To Hair Styling At Night School Next Week

If you still have an unfulfilled itch to drive a bus—left over from the days when you were 10 and the school bus driver was the most exciting person you knew—the adult education department has just the course for you.

The course will put you legally at the wheel of a school bus and teach you how to drive one properly.

The school bus has been drafted for the road test part of a chauffeur's class A licence course which begins tonight.

The course begins at 8 p.m. in the Kelowna Secondary School. Eight sessions are planned.

A flood of vocational and recreational adult education courses begin next week, joining many already in progress.

On Monday, courses begin in retail management, auto mechanics, basic electronics, modern poetry appreciation, Spanish conversation, building your own house, intermediate and advanced dressmaking, Business letters, bridge and drafting. In the Westbank Elementary School, a course in second year Bishop dressmaking begins.

Damsite Tour Leaves Saturday

A group of Valley businessmen will take off from the Kelowna airport tomorrow at 9 a.m. for the chamber of commerce-sponsored trip to the Portage Mountain Dam site.

The 73-passenger chartered aircraft will land at Hudson Hope at 11:15 a.m. where buses will be provided to the site.

B.C. Hydro officials will greet the passengers and lunch will be served at the dam site.

In the afternoon there will be a conducted tour of the giant power project.

Dinner will be served on the aircraft which will land at the Kelowna Airport at 7:15 p.m. the same day.

Reservations for the flight have been handled by Jim Donald, secretary-manager of the Kelowna Chamber of Commerce.

SCHOOL BOARD BRIEFS

School District 23 (Kelowna) trustees took three of eight certificates presented at the recent B.C. School Trustees Association Convention in Penticton. The certificates were awarded for 10 years continuous service. C. E. Sladen, John Maddock and A. G. Pollard were the Kelowna trustees receiving the scrolls.

Trustees decided not to accept the one tender received for the Westbank tenagerage. The tender, for $200, was too low for the board to consider selling the building now. Other tenders may be looked for again next spring.

Vandalism totalling $1,050 at the Dorothea Walker Elementary School this summer is covered by insurance, secretary-treasurer Fred Macklin told the Victoria Saturday. The convention was held in Kelowna last year.

Twelve teachers will attend a primary teachers' convention in Victoria Saturday. The convention was held in Kelowna last year.

A. G. Pollard, chairman of Kelowna and District Safety Council, and salary negotiations with teachers are "progressing at a fairly good pace."

P. C. Greer, principal of George Elliot Secondary School, and C. J. Hults, principal of Okanagan Mission school, and S. L. Janzen, principal of Mission Creek Elementary School, visited the school board meeting.

The transportation committee will meet with a delegation of parents from the Kelowna area on Oct. 17. The committee is planning a school bus tour to the south coast.

When Government Settles Taxpayers Pay Shot

Is it ever possible to settle a labor dispute in fairness to all the parties concerned—labor, management and the general public? Some recent wage settlements seem to have been heavily weighted in favor of labor union pressure groups.

Commenting on this situation The Printed Word of Toronto reports that a railway trainman and another man were discussing the recent rail strike. The view was expressed that the crucial question is how much the railways are able to pay. To this the trainman replied: "To hell with the railways, let the government pay it."

"Those words slipped out in an unguarded moment, but they revealed what the man really had in mind," the writer continues. "Indications are that many thousands of the strikers and their sympathizers are of the same mind. The meaning in those words is that, in the minds of the strikers, the value of their labor is not the issue in this dispute, that the purpose is to compel the taxpayers to supplement whatever wages the railways are able to pay. This means that the people were being deprived of railway services in order to compel them to submit to being taxed for the benefit of the employees."

"Any wage increase the railway men gain in this manner will have to be taken out of the earnings of other workers, for the government has no money of its own to give to anybody; and many of those who would be taxed for this purpose are earning less than the railway men who are demanding such assistance. There is nothing fair or just about raising wages in this way; and the unions should be the first to object to it."

"The determining of wage rates is largely a matter of weighing value against the value at which the consumers will buy the products of such labor. No man nor any group of men can accurately measure such values. They are the product of thousands of separate decisions by thousands of different persons, each acting in his own interests and each free to buy or to sell as suits himself. The natural result of such bargaining is the "going price" or "going wages" as the case may be. Such prices and such wages are not enforced by any public authority and are binding only on those who agree to them.

"The great advantage of this way of determining values is that such values are acceptable to all parties, they are the values at which men agree to deal with each other. They are natural values, natural prices, natural wages. They are the values at which the most goods can be sold, the most can be produced, and the most workers can find employment. They result in the greatest good to the greatest number of people."

"Experience teaches that when these natural prices and natural wages prevail, unsalable surpluses of goods do not accumulate, for under such a system goods that won't sell at one price will always attract buyers who can find other uses for them at lower prices and thus keep the markets clear."

"The railway strike is over and most of the men are back on the job. But it did not settle the wage dispute. In spite of negotiations and arbitration in this and other fields labor peace was not on the horizon and there were clouds remaining."

"On the day the men went back to work it was evident that whoever drafted the final settlement of the dispute, the value and the durability of that settlement would depend on the extent to which it would protect the rights of all parties concerned, the workers who do the work, the managers who direct the operations, the owners who furnish the capital, the shippers who pay for the services, and the taxpayers who should not be called on to pay for services they don't receive."

Women Wear The Pants

Women are going to wear the pants. Oh! we know they do now figuratively, as any husband will agree, but we are speaking now in the literal sense.

There are some, of course, who will say they wear pants literally now. Well, slacks, we mean, which is another way of saying pants. They wear them just about everywhere these days and many that shouldn't wear them on the streets.

But we think they are going to go further than this.

We think they will quit wearing skirts entirely. Men quit a few centuries ago.

In the since-modern world of Greece and Rome, trousers were unknown to men and in fact weren't general male garb until the middle ages. Today only the Scots and the Greeks cling to the skirt.

Although women have worn dresses since the beginning of recorded time, the hemline has been above the ground only since 1912 when some fashion designer came out with an "overskirt" which ended several inches above the bottom of the dress. Almost immediately the overskirt became the whole skirt.

Hemlines were at the knee in 1927 and again in 1939, but never as high as now when they have reached to four inches—or more—above the knee.

This height has popularized brightly-colored tights to be worn under the short skirts. This is giving women a look very similar to that of the tunic-and-ights set of young men at the time Columbus crossed the ocean.

And now, they have "pant suits", matching jacket and trousers. And on the tight figure they look smart indeed.

The natural progression would be for an acceleration of the use of pant suits, or at least trousers, rather than a turn back to skirts, just as the young men after Columbus did. So the short skirts and the pant suits of today are probably heralding a new fashion and women may never again return to the dress.

Traffic Safety Needs Stressed

OTTAWA (CP)—Is there too much emphasis on speed in highway safety promotion?

A National Research Council study group on motor vehicle accidents says speed limits and their obvious enforcement help reduce accident rates, but other, more effective measures may be overlooked due to over-emphasis on speeding.

Failure to maintain sufficient distance between vehicles may be a far more serious hazard than speeding, the five-man group suggests in its first series of reports examining results of accident research in North America and Europe.

The reports say statistics now compiled often are misleading because of omissions and narrow scope, and additional research is needed before drawing definite conclusions.

But, "it was determined that short headway, or cars following each other too closely, was one factor that correlated positively with accidents, while speed did not."

TAILGATERS UNAFFECTED

Obvious enforcement of traffic regulations—frequent patrols by marked police vehicles—slows speeding drivers, the report continues, but it has little effect on drivers who follow other vehicles too closely.

"It does suggest that following too closely, rather than high speed, is perhaps the element for which our traffic police should be on the lookout."

Environment and the vehicle itself play prominent, although not as obvious, roles in accident frequency and degree of injury, the reports add.

Limited-access, multi-lane highways halve the number of fatal accidents per vehicle mile as compared with ordinary, two-lane highways. Less spectacular but still appreciable reductions result from removal of roadside obstructions such as trees, posts and bridge abutments.

Special road surfaces for areas known to be slippery in wet weather, and improved communication devices, such as traffic signals, also are suggested. A computer-operated traffic light system in downtown Toronto not only speeded traffic but reduced the number of accidents at the same time, the reports note.

CHECK AID 'LIMITED'

While mechanical defects in vehicles have been cited as the cause of about 10 per cent of all accidents, periodic, compulsory checks and improved standards help only to a limited extent, the reports say.

Packaging the occupants in the vehicle to reduce severity of injuries when accidents do occur is one area where there is room for improvement, the studies say.

Introduction of lap belts and improved door locks have reduced injuries due to persons being thrown from vehicles, but little has been done about redesigning steering wheels and instrument panels to reduce injuries to persons who remain inside the vehicle.

Effective use of the shoulder harness—the report says it is much more effective than the lap belt—has been hampered by inadequate seat and seat attachment strength.

A section dealing with seating arrangement and abundant evidence of their strength of mind, having passengers face the rear of the vehicle. It also would cause difficulties for front-seat passengers, particularly in restricting the driver's vision.

Personally Speaking

By VEN. D. S. CATCHPOLE, B.A., D.D.

This is fun, fun, fun and a-go-go, and should keep youngsters occupied for hours on end.

Still better, they can travel in pairs with the passenger trying his aim with a pop bottle at the concrete curb. This is glorious fun. Or what is more exciting than for younger ones to write on fences and on sidewalks all the funny four-letter words they have picked up in the gutter somewhere.

Just think of the people who have to go out afterwards and clean up the mess. Isn't that just superb?

Then there are those busy little people who haven't yet reached the smoking age—shall we say nine or 10, or am I slightly out of date? They won't throw away empty cigarette packages but they can amuse themselves by flipping ice-cream or malted milk containers into hedges and on to private property. This creates a delightfully bizarre appearance and the happy householder never knows what he is going to find on his property when he goes out.

It may be a gleaming bit of foil or better still a broken bottle which shines in the sun; and there is always a cheery assortment of cigarette butts and silver paper and school notes, no longer needed.

There are signs, and what not, to be torn down and mutilated. Oh, there is no end of things for youngsters to do. It is simply delightful to watch the young ones (and sometimes these not so young) stroll across a "walk" at an intersection as if they had all the time in the world.

Their aplomb is admirable and motorists can be heard gasping out their delight at the cleverness of these young fry who have been taught that they are inviolate in those white-marked areas.

There are greater delights awaiting these children when they grow up. The happy time will come when they have cars and go to parties. Nothing to do, indeed! They are the busiest people, I can tell you. From two o'clock on they can engage in twang their cars around the streets testing their tires to see if they can get around corners with the loudest possible squeal.

It's the greatest fun and if they happen to land their cars into someone's front yard, brother, that is simply supreme. And so, you see, I think it is simply untrue that there is nowt to do in this town. There are still some areas which are not sufficiently littered with junk. There are still some corner properties, over which paths have been inefficiently trodden.

Some cracks, haven't enough broken triangles in them. It is too bad that store windows aren't defaced more often than once a year. And if you can't find anything else to do, why not start a nice riot or clap a policeman's face, or would an urbanite be better?

Not enough to do? Ha!

LETTER TO EDITOR

HE'S IN FOCUS!

Sir: For a long time we want to thank you for bringing us the work of an able and dedicated staff member of the Kelowna Daily Courier, your photographer, John Kent Stevenson.

The pride of eye and cultural achievement of our community, the toil and the reward of the grower, the flight of the bird and the fleeting beauty of the passing season, the humor and sometimes even the tragedy of human life, all this and much more we find so strikingly portrayed in the daily pages of the Courier, with the observing eye of his camera always in focus.

May the day be far off when under horizons and richer opportunities will beckon this capable man from our Valley.

Yours sincerely,

GOOD HEALTH

By DR. JOSEPH G. MOLNER

Dear Dr. Molner:

I am 13, weigh 140, and am 5 feet 4. How much should I reduce? I'm willing. I love to eat. How can I get rid of beauty marks and moles on my arms, neck and back?

How often should I wash my hair? Mine is dry. — GIRL NEEDS HELP AT 13

You might as well learn the awful truth. People who love to eat are rather certain to be too heavy unless they exercise more, reduce their diet and avoid foods that are extremely high in calories.

I get about a bushel of letters every week from grownups who think there's some way to eat all they want of rich foods, not bother with exercise, and still not get fat.

It takes some will power but people can learn to eat less and like it—and stay thin.

The only way to get rid of moles is to let your doctor do it. Just removing a mole is a simple office job. If it's in a very prominent place where a small scar will be objectionable, I suggest either a dermatologist or a plastic surgeon.

Wash your hair when it gets dirty. Once a week or so should be plenty. Use a shampoo that is made for dry hair, to replace some of the oils.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am a 17-year-old boy who is well past puberty. I can't understand why some of my organs are so undeveloped. What do you suggest? — M.M.

It seems as though hardly a week goes by that I don't get this question, and not only from teenagers. Yet the fact remains that almost never is there anything really worth worrying about. It's just a common self-doubt.

I'm sure it will make you feel better to consult your doctor. He will keep the visit strictly confidential.

Dear Dr. Molner: If one lipoma tumor is removed, will many more appear? Are they dangerous if not operated upon? — G.C.

More lipomas (fatty tumors) may appear but not because of removal of one. Some people are more inclined to have this trouble than others. No, they are not dangerous. They are removed only if they are large enough to be a nuisance or to mar one's appearance.

Dear Dr. Molner: I am going on 14 and find myself becoming bow-legged. My knees are turning in and my calves are turning out. Can I prevent the condition from becoming worse? — L.C.

Folks who are going on 14 sometimes become overly critical of themselves and their shapes and imagine things that aren't really happening. If, at your age, there is a real change in the shape of your legs (bone structure, that is) your parents doubtless would notice it, too, and take you forthwith to an orthopedist.

Dear Dr. Molner: What can a teen-ager do to stop thumb-sucking while asleep? — A.T.

If you do it while you sleep, obviously it's a deeply ingrained habit. How about wearing gloves? Or make sacks for your thumbs out of canvas, turkish toweling or something, and keep them in place with a cord or ribbon tied around your wrists. This ought to help you break the habit.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could a person lose his mind from labyrinthitis? I get so dizzy at times. — C.R.

Labyrinthitis, which affects a part of the ears controlling balance, usually makes the patient dizzy but it has no effect on the mind.

Dear Dr. Molner: Is there a tea that cleanses the kidneys and bladder? — MRS. W.S.

No. If the organs are healthy, they cleanse themselves. If they are diseased, you need more than tea.

Note to Mrs. M.B.: Calcium in the diet appears to have no connection with gallstones. As to osteoporosis, adequate calcium in the diet plus hormones to correct altered metabolism may help.

St. Andrew's Church Scene Of Kerr-Vickers Wedding

Lovely arrangements of chrysanthemums in autumn colors decorated St. Andrew's Anglican Church on Saturday, Oct. 8, at 2 p.m. when Marjorie Gail, daughter of Mrs. Herbert Hedley Vickers and the late Mr. Vickers of Okanagan Mission became the bride of James Douglas Kerr, son of Mr. and Mrs. Douglas James Kerr of Kelowna.

Rev. E. S. Somers officiated at the pretty double-ring ceremony and the congregation sang "O Perfect Love" during the signing of the register, accompanied by Mrs. W. F. Anderson.

Given in marriage by her brother-in-law, Arthur Hope, of Mission City, the lovely bride wore a full length gown of white peau de soie made by her sister Mrs. W. R. Akerlund. The gown was fashioned with an Empire waistline, accented with a band of Guipure lace, long lily-point sleeves and a rounded neckline. A circular headress held in place her elbow length veil of scalloped nylon tulle. She wore a necklace of seven gold-caged cultured pearls, a gift from the groom, and she carried a teardrop bouquet of yellow roses and white carnations.

The maid of honor was the bride's cousin, Miss Gwen Hughes-Games, and the bridesmaid was Miss Elizabeth Bradley, both of Kelowna. The two attendants wore similar ankle length dresses of yellow peau de soie complimented with nylon lace jackets, long white gloves and circular headresses covered with yellow daisies. They carried tear drop bouquets of bronze chrysanthemums.

The young flower girl Wendy Akerlund, niece of the bride, was charming in a dress of pale turquoise peau de soie fashioned in the same style as the bridesmaid's dresses, and she carried a nosegay of bronze chrysanthemums.

Donald Pettman of Kelowna acted as best man, and ushering the guests to their pews were Blair Campbell of Cranbrook and Kenneth Gordon of Kamloops.

At the reception held in the Mountain Shadows Country Club Regatta Room, the mother of the bride received wearing a broadened dress in russet tones, a smart brown velvet hat, matching accessories and a corsage of yellow roses. The groom's mother who assisted her wore a dress of Italian wool and chiffon in shades of coral and brown with accessories in tone and a corsage of gardenias.

The toast to the bride, proposed by J. S. Graham of Oyama was ably responded to by the groom, and Donald Pett-man gave the toast to the bridesmaids.

Nestling in pink tulle dotted with rosebuds in the center of the bride's table was a beautiful three layer wedding cake flanked by pink tapers. Mrs. W. R. Akerlund, Mrs. R. P. Coe and Mrs. Robert Kerr poured the tea, which was served by Miss Brenda Wemp, Miss Pamela Bradley, Miss Mary Leathley, Miss Joan Bazett, and Miss Linda Lamoyne. Miss Elaine Hughes-Games was in charge of the guest book.

Out of town guests attending the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Hope from Mission City, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Matheson of Seattle, Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Gordon and family of Kamloops, Mr. and Mrs. Jock Davis of Ladner, Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Graham of Oyama and Mr. and Mrs. R. Coe of Vernon. Among the UBC students attending were Miss Diane Fillmore, Miss Joan Bazett, Miss Linda Lamoyne, Robert De Hart, Richard Moore, John Leathley, John Gordon, Trevor Tupman, Byron Johnson and Robert Wilson. From Simon Fraser University were Miss Pamela Hope and Colin Miller.

To travel on her honeymoon to the Oregon Coast the bride changed to a suit of beige and turquoise Shikara with a contrasting blouse of turquoise shantung. Her hat and gloves were beige, her shoes featured patent illusion heels, and she wore a corsage of pink carnations.

Mr. and Mrs. Kerr will reside at 6001 Vine St., Vancouver.

Ottawa Teachers Receive Mental Health Training

OTTAWA (CP)—Parents with one or two children may have difficulty spotting a mental health problem.

For one thing, they probably haven't enough contact with other children to help them detect the difficulty by comparing.

For another, they may be so emotionally involved that their judgment is adversely affected. It's easier for the teacher to pick out the problem-child because she has other children in the class to use as yardsticks.

With this in mind, 11,000 Ottawa public school teachers are receiving this fall, for the first time, an in-service training course on the mental health aspects of teaching.

Beatrice Wickert, head of the school board's psychiatric service, says the course will consist of two lectures to groups of about 300 teachers, discussion groups for 60 teachers at a time with a team of three psychiatric workers and teachers' meetings led by a psychologist at each of the 52 schools.

Dr. John Griffin of Toronto, director of the Canadian Mental Health Association, will lecture on child development; Dr. William Hollister of the University of North Carolina on behavior management in the classroom. The Ontario division of the Canadian Mental Health Association will provide a kit of selected articles and a reading list.

DEMAND INCREASES
Mrs. Wickert, a slim, blonde mother of two teen-agers, says the demand for psychiatric services in school is increasing. This is partly because the teachers have provided some assistance with good results.

"The requirements of the children are increasing, too. The general conditions of tension in the world have an effect on children. And because of our scientific technological society, children are expected to grow up with a good background of scientific information."

"They are urged to attain higher standards than ever before. I had one little child in Grade 1 who was worried about getting into university."

The obvious solution is for parents not to push their children too hard, Mrs. Wickert says, but this isn't easy.

"I feel sorry for parents. It's hard for them not to exert pressure on their children. Some parents are not even aware they're doing it, but it shows up at school. That's why I think it's so important for teachers and parents to get together."

Children are referred to Mrs. Wickert or one of her two part-time co-workers after teacher and principal have tried unsuccessfully to solve the problem.

Not all the children referred have learning difficulties. Some are gifted and need help planning further education. Some are merely working under their potential.

Last year 800 Ottawa children out of 26,000 in the system received counselling. National statistics indicate at least one child in 10 needs psychiatric help and some estimates are as high as one in five.

DEATH ON THE LOT

WESTON ZOYLAND, England (CP)—Three rare tropical bushes, the juice of which is used by South American Indians to poison arrowheads, were found growing on a construction site in this Somerset village. One was sent to the county museum at Taunton and the others destroyed to safeguard children playing nearby.

ANN LANDERS

Mend Your Ways Boys And Avoid Accidents

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been married for 28 years. Although he has never pointed a knife or a gun at me (or anyone else) I live in fear that one day he will kill me and the children. How? With the family car.

My husband is a thoughtful, kind, generous man. He is considered stable, well-balanced by those who work for and with him. Yet he behaves like a mad man when he is in the driver's seat of his automobile.

He becomes furious when another driver fails to give him the right of way. He retaliates by speeding, leaning on the horn and swearing. He has no patience for older drivers who go more slowly than he thinks they should. I have seen some serious accidents caused by a simple lack of courtesy. I think it miraculous that my husband has escaped—so far.

This is more than a "safety problem." It is a marital problem. My husband's driving has ruined many an evening for me and caused many an argument between us. Will you please print this letter and a comment or two? I'm sure I'm not alone.

—MRS. SHOOK UP

Dear Mrs.: You bet you're not alone. If all the wives who have this problem were lined up they would reach from the emergency ward of any Los Angeles hospital to the morgue in Manhattan.

Nearly half of my readers are men. To them I say: If you see yourself in that letter, mend your ways.

Kinnette Club Plans Are Well Underway

The Registrar reported 43 members—88 per cent of the club—present at the October meeting of the Kelowna Kinnette Club held at the Capri Motor Inn with the president Dorcas Moe in the chair.

The club was fortunate in having Mrs. E. E. Eagen, representative of Spencer Support Garments from Montreal as the guest speaker.

Maureen Timber reported that the left over rummage from the Sept. 17 rummage sale was given to the Girl Guides, the Salvation Army and the Unitarian Society.

The Kinnette Club voted to support the Rehabilitation Foundation of B.C. by serving coffee and sandwiches to physically handicapped persons at social evenings, the first of which was held in the Institute Hall.

Save the children chairman, Arlene Lund, reported that she received a letter saying the Kinettes' cheque for the sponsorship of a Korean child, Lee Pan Yun, had been received.

Jacqueline Ramage reported that one layette was given away at the hospital and several more were being purchased.

It was moved that the Kinnette Club help the firemen in cleaning the stuffed toys and dolls for children at Christmas, and Diane Lindsay volunteered to contact the firemen. It was also moved to have a Christmas Party for the children of Sunnyside School, to be convened by Vivian Parton and Marney Collinson.

Joyce Rutherford reported 91 Christmas Kandy Kanes have been made to date. Proceeds from this project go to charities.

Unitarian chairman, Pat Gee, reported 30 cartons of clothing were packed and shipped last month. Mrs. Gee also has Unitarian Christmas cards for sale and anyone wanting wool is asked to contact her at 1810 Maple St. or to phone 2-0616.

The wool is used to make sweaters for the Unitarian Society. A public meeting is also planned for Dr. Hirschmanova at the Winfield Women's Institute on Nov. 25.

To conclude the evening Yvonne Ponich, club critic, congratulated the president on a very well run meeting.

Canada Among Nations Unhappy At Big 3 Talks

OTTAWA (CP) — Informed sources here say the smaller members of NATO, including Canada, are unhappy about private British-American-German talks on future targets for alliance military strength in Europe.

The sources said there is a protest movement among the smaller treaty nations because they feel such subjects should be discussed by the alliance as a whole.

Britain and the United States have been hinting at reduction of their military forces in Europe, especially Germany, because of the financial drain caused by heavy maintenance costs. They are talking privately with Germany about this.

The subject of future NATO military strength—referred to in the alliance as "force goals"—was discussed here Thursday by External Affairs Minister Pierre Hameel of Belgium in a 1½-hour meeting.

There is some apprehension among the smaller NATO countries that the big three—Britain, the U.S. and France but now they are the U.S., Britain and West Germany—will come to some agreement on force goals without prior consultation with their partners.

This same attitude was apparent, at least in Canada, when proposals were made some years ago for an American-British-French directorate to run the alliance.

Sources said that despite the British-American-German talks, there is no disposition on Canada's part to withdraw or even reduce significantly its forces in Europe.

The government has been resisting opposition demands, mainly from the New Democratic Party but from some Conservatives as well, for withdrawal of Canadian forces from Europe.

National Contest Designed To Help Young Area Artists

Young Kelowna artists are being provided an opportunity by the National Centennial Commission to compete for prizes and have their works exhibited next year.

The Centennial commission has announced a program called the Centennial Visual Arts Perspective, 1967. Substantial cash prizes are being offered in four categories: painting, sculpture, prints and drawings and fine crafts.

In addition, some artists will have an opportunity to exhibit at the Art Gallery of Canada in Toronto for three months during 1967.

TWINS STILLBORN
BRAMPTON, Ont. (CP)—Siamese twins were born to a Brampton couple Thursday night at Peel Memorial Hospital. The twins, both girls, were stillborn in a cesarean operation. Names of the parents have been withheld.

DEVELOP TALENT
The commission is sponsoring the competition to "encourage the development of talented young Canadian artists and craftsmen."

The program, the commission says, will encourage the professional development and assist in the further training of the young artist.

First awards in each category will be $5,000. Second awards will be $2,000 and third awards will be $1,000.

Canadian citizens and residents between the ages of 18 and 35 are eligible for the competition. Entrants must submit an application form prior to the submission of any work of art. Applications must be postmarked no later than Dec. 1, 1966.

After the application is accepted, an artist must submit his work during the week of Feb. 22 to March 1, 1967.

The works, including the final selection of the judges, will be exhibited at the art gallery in Toronto during July, August and September, 1967.

Application forms and further information can be obtained from the Centennial Visual Competition, Centennial Commission, P.O. Box 1967, Ottawa.

Financial Difficulties Facing B.C. — Perrault

Ray Perrault, B.C. Liberal leader, said in Ottawa Thursday he has learned from federal officials that Premier Bennett has made repeated requests for financial assistance recently, indicating the province is in "financial difficulties."

He said the requests amounted to more than $80,000,000 and came in within a few days of the Sept. 12 election—indicating financial troubles were the reason for calling the election. "It's the most incredible performance in Canadian politics," Bennett went to the people under false pretences Sept. 12.

Pacific Great Eastern Railway workers decided Thursday they will remain on strike, despite what they termed as threats and edicts from Premier Bennett, until they get a new contract. Dave Chapman, spokesman for the Federation of PGE Employees, which represents 400 non-operating workers on strike 18 days, said in Vancouver it was a unanimous decision by the men at an hour-long meeting.

Silas C. Corqueira, a researcher at the University of Paris, said Thursday in Toronto he has unconfirmed reports that Canadian planes are being sold by West Germany to Portugal to help crush colonial revolts.

A leader of Britain's fishing industry warned Thursday that unless action on the implementation of the 12-mile limit is taken soon over-fishing could kill the Canadian Atlantic fishery. Basil Parks, chairman of Boston Deepsea Fisheries Ltd., of Hull, England, said in Halifax in an interview there has been about a 50-per-cent reduction in fish stocks on this side of the Atlantic in the last 15 years.

King Of World's Arrival Didn't Help Mid-East Mess

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) — The mixed-up politics of the Middle East have become even more puzzling since the arrival of two Americans—King Homer, 73 — self-appointed ruler of the world — and a bishop who is trying to get into the White House.

The king, Pentecostal Bishop Homer Tomlinson of the Church of God in Queens, New York, put on a slightly misshapen aluminum crown and named himself the monarch of all nations in Jerusalem last Friday, repeating a ceremony he has conducted in many American communities.

Now he has arrived in Beirut on a bus to drive to the biblically famous Cedars of Lebanon "to climb the highest cedar and pluck the highest branch." This is to fulfill a biblical prophecy of Ezekiel, and the king intends to plant twigs from the branch in airport lounges in London and New York.

BLOWS OWN BUGLE
On the presidential front, Bishop William Rogers of Fulton, Mo., took his campaign to Jericho, Jordan, and marched around the walls brought down by Joshua's trumpet in Old Testament times. The remains of the walls are still there, and Rogers was blowing on a trumpet of his own — a yard-long bugle made from the horn of a Texas steer.

Bishop Rogers is the king's right-hand man. He has been campaigning for 1968 on the Theocratic ticket by walking around country courthouses in the United States.

"Now I'm on my way to Viet Nam to stop the war there," said Bishop Rogers. "I have no personal power, but I feel divinely inspired to blow on the horn in Saigon. It is time the fighting stopped."

HE'S EARLY BIRD
The 43-year-old Pentecostal leader, a former baseball umpire, says his election campaign started early because "The early bird catches the worm."

The Arab press has reported the activities of King Homer, Bishop Rogers and 11 associates who came from the United States for a church congress in Jerusalem, but the papers have been puzzled as to just what was going on.

King Homer, who has assured world leaders they will stay in office, first proclaimed himself king in 1954 and has restaged his coronation in scores of countries since.

Lots Of Intriguing Thoughts During Vegas Golf Tourney

LAS VEGAS (AP)—The $100,000 Sahara invitational golf tournament swung into the second round today with several intriguing possibilities.

Could Ray Floyd, the first-round leader, hang onto it with his first round three-under-par 68.

Or could the more celebrated Bill Casper, Jack Nicklaus or Arnold Palmer break par in quest of the $20,000 first prize? So it was as play resumed over the 7,069-yard, par-36-35-71 Paradise Valley Country Club course.

Floyd Wednesday had six birdies and three over-par holes in his first competition since the Cleveland Open in August.

But National Open champion Casper conceded he did not putt well as he shot a 37-38-73. He had only three one-putt greens and missed two putts of seven and six feet for successive over-par holes.

Nicklaus said, his round of 36-35-71 included a 20-foot birdie on the seventh.

Palmer shot 35-36-71 and blamed the wind for most of his troubles. On the third hole, he said, a chip shot blew laterally 20 feet into the stiff elements.

Prices Mostly Edge Upwards

OTTAWA (CP) — Consumer price indexes eased downward in St. John's, Nfld., and Halifax, but rose in other principal cities across Canada.

The bureau of statistics said today its city indexes showed mixed movements but a general upward trend in prices. Clothing prices rose in all cities, but food prices were lower in the majority of them.

The city indexes are based on 1959 prices equalling 100, except St. John's, where the base year is 1951. They show changes in consumer price levels in each city from month to month, but do not indicate whether it is cheaper or more expensive to live in one or another city.

The September indexes, followed by August indexes for comparison, are: St. John's 128.5-127.1; Halifax 138.9 - 139.0; St. John's N.B., 141.9 - 141.8; Montreal 142.9 - 142.6; Ottawa 145.3-145.2; Toronto 148.2-147.9; Winnipeg 140.5-140.1; Saskatoon and Regina 137.0-136.7; Edmonton and Calgary 135.9 - 135.4; Vancouver 139.6-139.0.

S.W. Africa Under Study By Seven-Nation Group

UNITED NATIONS (CP)—A seven - country working group, including Canada, continued its efforts Thursday to find some middle ground between the determination of South Africa's white government to rule South-West Africa in its own way, and the insistence of the Afro-Asian group that an immediate end be put to this rule at any cost.

South Africa's foreign minister, Hilgard Muller, told the General Assembly Wednesday night that if the United Nations adopts and attempts to carry out a 53-country motion to set up a direct UN administration in South-West Africa, the cost will be steep.

He said South Africa's policies of apartheid, or racial separation, envisage "peaceful and orderly evolution" in the predominantly Negro territory. South Africa "will resist with all the power at its disposal any attempts which endanger the safety of our country or of the peoples committed to our care."

"I may remind distinguished delegates that any outside attempts at coercion in respect of South-West Africa would not be concerned with South - West Africa alone, but would have to be directed against the administering authority, the Republic of South Africa."

HARD TO CARRY OUT

While South Africa's position was thus bluntly reaffirmed, there were few signs of Afro-

Asian willingness to change the draft resolution now before the assembly, which would declare South Africa's rule of South-West Africa legally at an end and demand that the Security Council take the necessary steps to set up a UN authority.

Most western delegates, including Canada, have indicated they would find it difficult to support the resolution in its present form because they don't think it could be carried out and the UN would therefore be exposed to humiliation.

The seven - country working group, made up of Canada, Britain, the United States, Mexico, Brazil, Chile and Italy, was reportedly to have made little headway in trying to persuade the resolution's sponsors to redraft it in a form that would find wider acceptance.

Muller told the assembly the population of South-West Africa, which is about 575,000, is made up of groups so diverse that it is impractical to try to arrange a system of simple majority rule for the territory as a whole. The South African government considered that "The only realistic method is that envisaged in its broad policy of the separate and parallel development of the various peoples."

India's Students On Spree Add To Indira's Troubles

NEW DELHI (AP) — India's students are on the rampage from one end of the country to the other, threatening law and order, and posing the current No. 1 problem for Prime Minister Indira Gandhi.

Riots, marches and strikes have occurred on and off the campuses in nearly all 16 states in recent weeks.

The prime minister has made it clear the violence must be stopped, but also said police must show restraint and the nation's leaders must look for ways to eliminate problems behind the unrest.

Mrs. Gandhi called for a forum for students to bring up grievances and thresh them out in "an atmosphere of understanding which is free from violence or disorder."

She noted that one problem was India's great population growth, which has outstripped school facilities. She also said that more developed countries have extracurricular activities available for students, whereas in India there are almost none. Education is free and compulsory but India lacks enough classes or teachers for the mushrooming student population.

Foreign exchange troubles have resulted in shortages of textbooks and laboratory equipment. For those fortunate enough to earn degrees, the job openings are few and the pay is low.

Much of the student violence results from frivolity that gets out of hand. Student strikes have been called because one group felt an examination professor was too strict or because a medical examination was made compulsory for first-year students.

The danger is that the students are learning the power of their mass protests and one university vice - chancellor has described the student demonstrations as India's version of China's teen - age militant Red Guards.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur Goldberg told the General Assembly that South Africa had by its actions forfeited the right to continue to administer the territory.

Goldberg said the U.S. believes the UN should "proceed to bring practical relief to the people of South-West Africa in

Things Different, Quieter In Dominican Republic

SANTO DOMINGO (AP) — Things are different at the Dominican Republic's National Palace, seat of the three-month-old regime of President Joaquin Balaguer.

For one thing the president's austerity program has eliminated the serving of coffee by white - jacketed palace valets and for another the palace press office is without film for the duration of the program.

More conspicuous, and more significant, is the lack of a feeling of imminent disaster that prevailed during the life of the provisional government had preceded Balaguer's inauguration.

Even during a flurry of wild rumors of a budding coup d'etat a few weeks ago, the palace pace was of busy unconcern. The mood of the 59-year-old reformer who runs the country was that of a corporation executive facing a grave problem, not the loss of his job.

PAY CHEQUES HIT

The austerity program is the cornerstone of his national rehabilitation plan. Accepted initially as a short-lived campaign pledge, it has become a painful pay-cheque reality to hundreds of government employees and to businessmen with overstocked shelves and a shrunken market.

There have been only muffled grumblings of discontent so far, probably because the plan's full effects have not been felt.

Even dedicated critics consider the lawyer-historian an incorruptible, morally unassailable man who, ironically, built up his reputation while serving the dictator faithfully and efficiently.

In his methodical way and with support from the military, Balaguer seems on his way to shaping the economic and political strategy for the delicate task ahead.

He seems to have convinced many Dominicans that he represents the last frail bridge between chaos and peaceful democratic rule.

New York Rangers pack up their training camp at Kingston today and head home for the opening of the National Hockey League season with a roster that reads like a hospital emergency list. The Rangers, last place finishers in the NHL last season, battled to a 1-1 tie with Toronto Maple Leafs in exhibition play at Peterborough Thursday night without seven regulars. Rob Irons from the Rangers' Ontario Hockey Association Junior A farm club at Kitchener had been called in as a standby goaltender to prevent "any chances of going in goal myself," said manager-coach Emile Francis, a former NHL goaltender.

The Rangers' No. 1 goaltender, Cesare Maniago, is recovering from an injured back. The backup goaltender, Ed Giacomin, played Thursday although Francis said he "shouldn't be playing with his knee."

Giacomin's injured knee has kept him out of most of the earlier exhibition games. Also sidelined are Phil Goyette, in hospital at Montreal with a severe cold; Bernie Geoffrion, with a head cut; Vic Hadfield, with pulled shoulder ligaments; Harry Howell, with a sprained ankle; and captain Bob Nevin, with torn knee ligaments.

NEEDS NOSE RESET
"Rod Gilbert's got a broken nose but we've had to use him," said Francis. "It's got to be reset today."

Reg Fleming scored the New York goal Thursday night, while Dave Keon replied for Toronto.

Meanwhile, Montreal Canadiens walloped Cleveland Barons of the American Hockey League 9-0 at Hull, Que. Henri Richard and Dave Balon scored two goals each for Montreal. G. J. L. Tremblay, Bobby Rousseau, Yvan Cournoyer, Jean Beliveau and Dick Duff scored the others.

Gary Butler scored the only goal for Cleveland.

Michel Jazy of France has set a world record for the 2,000-metre distance, with a time of 4:56.2 in Paris. The previous record for the distance was 4:57.8, set by Norpoth of Germany last Sept. 10.

NFL, AFL Merger Hopes Fading

WASHINGTON (AP) — The proposed merger of the American Football Conference and National Football League appeared doomed today as the United States Congress hurried to ward adjournment while still scheduling hearings on the plan.

NFL commissioner Pete Rozelle says he will urge the two leagues to call off the merger unless Congress sanctions it. But Representative Emanuel Celler, chairman of the House antitrust committee, has said he wants to "plumb the depths" of the plan before he recommends its approval.

The two leagues still hope the House will approve a Senate-passed measure to exempt the merger from antitrust laws.

No date for the hearing was set when Thursday's session before the House antitrust subcommittee was adjourned. But Congress hopes to adjourn by Oct. 22, so any action on the bill must be taken quickly.

Celler insisted the bill does not make clear to what extent the merger would be exempted from antitrust laws. League lawyer Hamilton Karothers and subcommittee counsel Kenneth R. Harkins, who were asked by Celler Tuesday to try to draft a strictly limited bill, said Thursday they are in fundamental disagreement.

Woman Jockey Race At Epsom

NEWMARKET, England (AP) — Mrs. Diane Law, riding Nikko, today won the Newmarket Town Plate, Britain's only horse race open to women jockeys, and received the traditional prize of a riding whip, a magnum of champagne and three pounds of sausages.

King Charles II started the race in 1665. He won it twice himself, riding against some of the prettiest horsewomen in England. But nowadays only women riders take part.

Nikko finished the four miles three lengths ahead of Queen's Tree, ridden by Marilyn Calvert.

TRAVELLERS CURLING

Ti-Cats Must End Slump In Order To Keep Status

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Hamilton Tiger-Cats have missed first place in the Eastern Football Conference only once in the last nine years and have finished on top the last five seasons.

But they must end a scoring slump and hand Ottawa Rough Riders their first loss of the season at home Sunday to keep alive their chances of a first-place finish.

The Riders hold a four-point lead over the Ticats and each club has three games left to play in the regular schedule.

The first-place finisher draws a bye into the EFC finals while the second-place club must play the third-place finisher in a sudden-death semi-final.

Montreal Alouettes, also having their scoring problems, play Toronto Argonauts Saturday in Toronto and can clinch third place. The Als have a four-point margin over Toronto with three games to go.

Saturday's game, starting at 1 p.m. EDT, will be televised over the CBC eastern network while Sunday's encounter, also beginning at 2 p.m., will be carried on the CTV eastern network.

The Ticats, 8-7 winners over Winnipeg Blue Bombers in a Canadian Football League interlocking game last Monday, have scored only one touchdown in their last two contests.

WALLOPED THE BOMBERS

Ottawa, in contrast, walloped the Bombers 40-21 last Saturday.

Adding to Hamilton coach Ralph Sazio's worries is the well-being of the Rough Riders. Coach Frank Clair says his team "physically should be in better shape" against Hamilton than against Winnipeg.

A crowd of 24,000 is expected to fill Lansdowne Park. Seats were sold out early in the week.

Montreal coach Darrell Mudra will probably start George Bork at quarterback in place of Bernie Faloney, who was unimpressive in the Als' 9-8 loss to the Argos last Monday in Montreal. But Faloney will be available to step in any time.

Halfback Bob Paremore is a doubtful starter after suffering a knee injury on the first play of Monday's game. If he doesn't play, defensive halfback Phil Brady will also take his regular turn on defence.

There is a chance that fullback Art Baker may sign with the Als in time to play. Baker opened the season with Hamilton, moved to Calgary Stampede and the Western Football Conference and was later released. He was rejected by Toronto and recently had a five-day trial with the Als.

Dave Bowen, a defensive back who missed Monday's game with a dislocated shoulder, will dress for the Als.

Bud Thinks Club Can Keep Esks' Dubious Honor Intact

By THE CANADIAN PRESS

Edmonton Eskimos haven't won a game in the Western Football Conference since Sept. 11. Coach Bud Grant of Winnipeg Blue Bombers thinks his rejuvenated club can keep that dubious honor intact a while longer.

The Blue Bombers and the Eskimos, both tied with Calgary Stampeders for second place, meet in Winnipeg Sunday.

"Right now things look encouraging," Grant says.

The Bombers had only 28 men Monday when they dropped an 8-7 decision to Hamilton Tiger-Cats of the Eastern Conference. As the club looks forward to meeting the staggering Eskimos, the Bombers are at full strength.

Besides, the Bombers are still upset at their loss in Hamilton. Grant says he has never seen his team take a defeat harder.

The Winnipeg-Edmonton game will be televised on the CTV western network at 3:30 p.m. EDT.

League-leading Saskatchewan Roughriders visit Vancouver Saturday for a game with British Columbia Lions, who trail Winnipeg, Edmonton and Calgary by only three points.

Saskatchewan leads by four points. The Saskatchewan-B.C. game will be televised by the CTV western network at 11 p.m. EDT.

The Lions also play in Calgary.

Former Orioles Manager Named To Lead Yankees

NEW YORK (AP)—Lee MacPhail, former president and general manager of Baltimore Orioles and more recently administrative assistant to the baseball commissioner, William D. Eckert, today was named executive vice-president and general manager of New York Yankees for the next three years.

He will replace Dan Topping Jr., acting general manager since last May, on Dec. 3. MacPhail will receive about $65,000 annually in his new position. His salary with the commissioner's office was estimated at $10,000. He joined Eckert's staff last November.

The 49-year-old son of Larry MacPhail, onetime co-owner of the Yankees, was the farm director of the Yankees before joining the Orioles in 1958. He is credited with having put together the team that won the 1966 American League pennant and world series in a four-game sweep over Los Angeles.

The Yankees finished in last place in the American League this last season for the first time since 1912. They won 70 games, lost 89 and wound up 26½ games behind the Orioles.

MacPhail's selection completes a club shakeup. Michael Burke, an executive of the Columbia Broadcasting System, replaced Dan Topping Sr., as president last month when the latter sold his 10 per cent interest to CBS, enabling the network to assume sole ownership.

CLARENCE CAMPBELL WON'T QUIT

20 Years Not Too Long

Although he has been president of the National Hockey League for 20 years, Clarence Campbell has no thought of retiring. He explains why in an interview with a Canadian Press reporter.

MONTREAL (CP) — Once upon a time, Clarence Campbell dreamed of early retirement from the turbulent world of professional hockey.

Not any more.

"I've no thought of retiring now," says the man who has been president and principal moulder of the National Hockey League for the last 20 years.

At the start of the 1967-68 season the NHL will expand from six teams to 12. New clubs will spring up in Los Angeles, San Francisco-Oakland, St. Louis, Pittsburgh, Philadelphia and Minneapolis-St. Paul.

There are television contracts to negotiate and there is a new working agreement coming into force with the Canadian Amateur Hockey League.

Retirement? He hasn't the time.

At 61, and after 20 years of guiding the collective destiny of the Montreal Canadiens, Boston Bruins, Toronto Maple Leafs, Detroit Red Wings, New York Rangers and Chicago Black Hawks, he still has much to do.

One of the trickiest problems facing the league president is television exposure on a national scale in the United States.

Last season, the national television contract was the most successful and profitable in the history of the league. It had hoped to have 10 or 12 late-season games, plus some playoff games, accorded similar treatment. NBC said no.

"They had the first right of refusal and decided not to go for it," he says.

"However, we're now free to offer it to other networks and we're in the process of conducting negotiations with three other organizations."

Clarence Campbell has been "in the process of conducting negotiations" about something almost from the time he was born on July 9, 1905, in Fleming, Sask.

The family moved to Edmonton while Campbell was a youngster. He attended the University of Alberta from 1922 to 1926, when he went to Oxford as a Rhodes Scholar.

He was 19 when he organized the Edmonton District Hockey Association.

Today, as a $25,000-to-$30,000-a-year executive, he is enshrined in the Hockey Hall of Fame as a builder of the game.

Is the office of league president, Campbell brought the mind of a scholar, the courage of a soldier and the eloquence of a successful lawyer who was once a proponent of Nazi war criminals.

With precise utterances delivered in clipped speech he brought order out of the bedlam that once marked the league owners' meetings, reducing the wrangling and uproar to the quiet efficiency of a banker's board meeting.

A few days after he took office in 1946, Campbell said hockey should be considered a career to which any Canadian citizen could be able to contribute.

He has developed the NHL players' pension fund into the richest in sport.

As with the fund, expansion of hockey generally, and the NHL in particular, is another personal goal. Television, he feels, could help here.

"Excitement generated by the actual viewing will become contagious and stimulate editorial comment. We have a certain amount of egoism and we think the tremendous exposure, on a medium entirely suited for the game, will serve to build up attendance at the games."

Expansion of the big league through the U.S. will have another benefit, providing "a great stimulus for playing the game."

"Thousands of American boys will become interested and when they find out that salaries, pensions and other benefits match other sports, they'll start making their own commitments."

"Our history has indicated that practically all U.S. hockey players come from Wisconsin, northern Michigan or places having similar climatic conditions to Canada. This interest dropped off when hockey bowed out in these districts. Now, with expansion, the interest will be revived."

Campbell looks forward to the time when hockey will become a truly international sport where new players are recruited by climate.

"Interest is spreading in Mexico and Europe—with the exception of France and Great Britain is moving up."

To those who believe recent Japanese participation in the game is an innovation, Campbell relates to the 1925 tour of Japan by the Bruins of North America.

Wherever the game has moved, however, Campbell cannot see the Montreal headquarters of the NHL moving—at least not in the near future.

"I can't conceive the movement of league headquarters to New York," he says.

"Traditionally hockey will always be identified with Canada and it would be difficult to change our headquarters without bringing forth a high degree of resentment among Canadians."

"We've been here for 50 years and during that time Canada has been most hospitable to the NHL. It would have been impossible to form and operate the players' pension plan without the co-operation of the Canadian tax authorities."

Many New Improvements On '67 VWs

North American version of Volkswagen sedan for 1967 incorporates more major improvements than ever before and even looks somewhat different than last year's model. Mechanical improvements include a 1500 c.c. engine for better all-around performance; progressive springing action for greater comfort; a dual brake system, and a new 12-volt electrical system providing brighter lights and faster cold weather starting. The 1967 VW also offers the added convenience of dual back-up lights, two-speed windshield wipers, recessed interior door handles, new safety door locks, retractable front seat belts and a spillproof and easily-serviced battery. In addition to changing the shape of the engine compartment lid to provide greater lid-to-bumper clearance, the "beetle's" front fenders were slightly reshaped to provide improved headlight mounting.

Volkswagen's sporty Fastback for 1967 offers improved performance under all road and load conditions due to a new transmission ratio in third gear and a modified rear suspension which develops a progressive spring action. Also new for 1967 is a dual braking system which insures that even if one-half of the system becomes inoperative, the other half still functions. Twin carburetors for 65-horsepower air-cooled engine create an constant supply of gas line rather than pressure rich required by most other dual-carburetor engines. Dual back-up light and side marker lights, retractable seat belts, fuel filter and oil filter, and a new oil cooler are standard equipment this year. The Fastback is available with a sliding steel sunroof.

We Won't Take No As Answer, Says Rusk On Peace Overture

WASHINGTON (AP) — State Secretary Dean Rusk says the United States hopes for "a more considered reply" despite the Communists' public rejection of latest American proposals for peace in Viet Nam.

Washington does not accept the turn-down as final, Rusk said Wednesday night in a speech to the Association of the United States Army.

If the Communists are uncertain about the meaning of the new set of proposals for scaling down or ending the war, he added, "the way to clear it up is through discussion."

Ambassador Arthur Goldberg outlined the U.S. proposals to the UN General Assembly last month. He offered a halt in the bombing of North Viet Nam if Hanoi would cut down its military operations in South Viet Nam.

Union Official Beaten To Death

NEW YORK (AP) — A 62-year-old union official was beaten to death Wednesday night as he walked with his dog near his Flushing, Queens, home.

Police were searching for a well-groomed man wearing a shirt with a ruffled front who neighbors said stood over the victim and kicked him in the head before fleeing in an auto. The dead man was identified as James P. Fox, business agent for Local 608, United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners of America.

Fox died in hospital while undergoing surgery for head wounds.

Detectives said no motive was immediately apparent.

Thanksgiving Day For Motorists

1. Win the heart in your hand, cash the K-A of spades, and ruff a spade. Then cash the ace of diamonds and exit with the ten.

It does not matter how the adverse cards are divided or how North-South choose to defend; in all cases, you can be sure of the contract. If North wins the diamond, he is bound to give you the tenth trick whether he returns a diamond (establishing a trick for you), or a club (into your A-Q), or a spade (giving you a ruff and discard).

If South wins the diamond and returns a low club, you finesse the nine, thus endplay-ing North so that he must yield the game-going trick. The same result accrues if South returns the ten or jack of clubs. You simply cover with the queen.

If South wins the ten of diamonds and returns a low diamond, you discard a club, thus insuring the contract, while if South returns a spade, you get a ruff and discard.

All roads lead to Rome. 2. If you were to play the ace and another club after winning the spade, you would almost surely go down even though you found the clubs divided 2-1. One defender or the other would win the club and return a spade, and you would find yourself with only eight winning tricks. If you then attempted to establish a ninth trick by leading a diamond, the defense would presumably grab the ace and cash a minimum of three spade tricks to defeat the contract at least one.

Instead of following this hopeless course, you should win the spade and play a low diamond towards dummy at trick two. This play offers a legitimate chance to make the contract. If North has either the A-x or A-x-x of diamonds, he must duck; otherwise, you have nine easy tricks.

Having "stolen" the diamond, you now play a club intending to finesse the nine if South follows with the eight. Unless North has all the missing clubs, you make the contract.

YOUR HOROSCOPE

FOR TOMORROW
Stellar influences now bring a tendency toward restlessness, which will cause many to go off on unprofitable tangents in order to escape routine or monotony; could also cause emotional upsets and general jitteriness. Do your best to curb such inclinations, yourself. A good day for initiating new methods, however.

FOR THE BIRTHDAY

If tomorrow is your birthday, the year ahead should bring great happiness in your personal life. Domestic, social and sentimental interests should prove highly stimulating, with emphasis on romance during the balance of this month, next April and June; on travel and social activities between now and November 1st, in January, April and mid-1967. In the latter connection, you will find many opportunities for making some valuable new contacts.

Where job matters are concerned, excellent headway can be made through a comprehensive and well-planned program—if you launch it immediately and follow through consistently. Advancement, with corresponding monetary reward, can be expedited by extending your sphere of activity and showing a willingness to assume additional responsibilities—especially in early January. Best periods along monetary lines: Between now and November 1st, the first half of February, mid-April, the first week in May, late June and next August. Do avoid extravagance and/or speculation this November; also during next March and early April, however. Caution during the November period will be extremely important. A child born on this day will be extraordinarily ambitious and independent, but may have to curb tendencies toward extreme irritability when opposed.

TRY AND STOP ME

By Bennett Cerf

A MERCHANT brought his son for the first time to the garment center to buy a full line of dresses, and haggled over the price of each item for a full ten minutes. On the way home the knowing lad inquired, "Why did you work so hard to heat him down, Papa? You know as well as I do that you'll probably be unable to pay the bill."

When Postmaster General Larry O'Brien celebrated his birthday, the congratulatory messages included this telegram from Senator Ed Kennedy: "I mailed you a birthday card three weeks ago, but I was afraid it wouldn't be delivered in time—hence this wire. Happy birthday."

The forefathers who named our towns and villages were not too imaginative. The U.S.A. today boasts 21 Milfords and Oxfords. There are 17 Buffaloes and 16 Warrens, 12 Parisces, 12 Berlins, 11 Moscovs, 9 Dublins, and 6 Londons. There also are 2 Budas but no Perses.

Dreamers and lovers of the classics will be pleased to note that we have 13 towns named Athens, 16 Arcadias, and 8 Paradiases. Only one Utopia turns up, unfortunately—and that's in Texas.

Ian Sinclair of the Canadian Pacific Railway said in a telephone interview from Montreal: "If they (the PGE) want to put down a price and send it along, we would look at it and study it."

Jean Arthur Show Folds

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jean Arthur, comedienne of the movies' golden years, quit 13 years of retirement to play a lady lawyer in a television series this year—and the show was one of the first to be axed.

How does she feel?

"Relieved that I don't have to read any more of those awful scripts."

Miss Arthur told an interviewer she was "disappointed, of course" when CBS handed her the pink slip. But she's game for another try—with the right kind of show.

CBS' action came after the Jean Arthur Show wound up 65th among 90 shows in the Nielsen ratings.

The series marked Miss Arthur's return to a full-time career after retiring 13 years ago.

The Jean Arthur Show will be replaced Dec. 5 by the long-run To Tell the Truth.

DIDNT KNOW VALUE
Platinum used to be scorned in former centuries as "unripe gold."

LBJ Draws Big Crowds

NEW YORK (AP)—President Johnson, drawing large crowds on a campaign tour of New York City, headed for more stumping Thursday after issuing an appeal against white backlash.

Addressing an Italian-American audience in Brooklyn Wednesday night—it was Columbus Day — Johnson reminded his listeners that "it hasn't been too many years since Italian-Americans have felt the raw pain of discrimination right here in America."

In a rather personal appeal—his first of this sort since "backlash" began figuring as an election-year issue—Johnson said:

"For those other Americans who are now feeling that need for fairness to all, regardless of religion, ancestry or race, I ask those of you who have crossed over the river to extend to them a helping hand."

En route back to Washington, where he holds an afternoon news conference, Johnson scheduled a campaign appearance at Wilmington, Del.

Apart from the absence of straightaway party line appeals the talk there was noteworthy for the folksiness of Johnson's bid for tolerance.

In Brooklyn, many thousands turned out to greet Johnson along a winding motorcade route. The official crowd estimate topped 1,000,000. The exact turnout was anyone's guess.

At points along the way, Johnson was greeted by placard-waving critics of the Viet Nam war. In one case he started walking straight toward them, to shake hands—until an aide turned him aside.

Artists Huff Economically

NEW YORK (AP)—A handful of huffing, puffing artists here are hoping to prove that inflation is not only economical but aesthetically good for the country.

They are pumping limp vinyl sacks into plump pillows, hassocks, free form sculpture, earrings, neckties, baby bibs, even beds. They say the future possibilities of cheap inflatables is unlimited.

In the middle of it are Phil Orenstein, a woolly-maned sculptor; his partner, an Indian philosophy student Sujun Suri; and a bearded musician-turned-salesman Paul Klein.

The inflatables are a part of a company they formed, reproducing the pop, op and 'way out works of their artist friends from cheap materials at cheap prices for the masses.

"See how strong these are?" says Paul the salesman jumping on a jellyfish-like pillow with a dollar bill inside.

"Soon we're going to be able to make these inflatable beds for $25," says Sujun, reaching for one section of inflated plastic which snaps onto another.

"One of these days newlyweds can put together an apartment full of chairs and beds," enthuses Paul the salesman. "And they can throw it all out when they're bored with it, it'll be so cheap."

Play Hands Sad Message

NEW YORK (AP)—A drama of dark anguish, The Investigation, opened on Broadway Tuesday night at the Ambassador Theatre.

It is by Peter Weiss, the German-born scribe who set audiences buzzing last season with the pinwheel frenzies of Marat Sade, which may have been an allegory about political freedom.

This time, drawing material from one of the Nazi war-guilt trials, his concern is a question:

Which is worse — mankind's capacity for infinite ferocity, or its ability for collective apathy when confronted with terror?

Weiss hammers the theme through a sequence of episodes detailing both the brutal evils of the Auschwitz concentration camp — where 4,000,000 prisoners were exterminated—and the do-nothing inertia of those outside as well as inside the barbed-wire fences.

"We are only obeying orders," runs the recurrent plea of the devil's dozen of accused who have been assembled for the Weiss parable. "Who could believe things like that?"

DREADFUL DEEDS

And with a broad sweep of dialogue, the playwright applies the dreadful deeds of a quarter-century ago to the horror potential in an atom-bomb world.

Top Japanese Film Star Sad At Cinema In His Homeland

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Japan's foremost film star, Toshiro Mifune, has come here for finishing touches on his first American movie and he bears sad tidings of the state of the Japanese cinema.

He is a man of medium height, with a face and physique that indicate latent power. The face is remarkable; it has the peculiarly stateless look of Anthony Quinn or Yul Brynner, and you get the impression Mifune could play a variety of nationalities.

The 46-year-old actor enacts a Japanese in Grand Prix, the racing film he made under John Frankenheimer's direction last summer at tracks and courses in Europe. Mifune was here briefly to dub a few lines onto the sound track in his phonetically-spoken English. Before reporting to MGM, he paused for an interview, using as interpreter a young Japanese who had studied film technique at the University of California.

Mifune is the most notable star to come out of Japan's golden age of films, drawing praise from critics around the world for his naturalistic acting.

He reported that Japanese films have fallen upon bad times. The principal villain is television.

"Our film industry is going through the same thing that American movies suffered 10 years ago," he said. "Not only has television cut down on theatre attendance but the Japanese now have filled up their houses with all the appliances available and are going in for car touring and other entertainment outside the home."

"The Japanese film industry, which enjoys a monopoly by controlling both the major studios and the theatres, has been steadily declining, and it hasn't reached the bottom yet. The leaders have been doing nothing about it, hoping that the industry will follow Hollywood's example and start to rise again."

"They have been cutting down the costs of each picture and resorting to sex and violence, and that only makes the situation worse."

Following the Hollywood trend, Mifune himself has become a producer-star. His last four films have been made for his own company, and he is building a two-stage studio where he plans to make films with and without himself as star.

"That's where the hope for Japanese films lies—in independent production," he said.

MOVIE highlights

A perennial favorite among young theatre-goers is coming to the Paramount Theatre next week.

The moving story of Bambi will be seen Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Oct. 20 to 22, at 7 and 9 p.m. and at the Saturday matinees at 1 and 3 p.m.

Starting off the week, Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday, Oct. 17 to 19 is the film North By Northwest to be shown at 7 and 9:15 p.m.

On Wednesday only there will be a Sneak Preview in addition to the regular show. The film will begin at 7:30 p.m.

At the Kelowna Drive-In Theatre, The Yellow Rolls Royce will be seen at dusk, Saturday, Monday and Tuesday, Oct. 15, 17 and 18.

Wednesday, Thursday and Friday, Oct. 19 to 21, Hootenanny Hoot is double-billed with Partners.

Bambi is the story of a young deer and his two companions, Thumper, an irresistible rabbit and the wistful skunk, Flower.

Based upon Felix Salten's best-selling novel, the film presents the entire life cycle of the animal kingdom. Highlight scenes include the springtime birth of Bambi, the new Prince of the forest; his first tour of the wooded wonderland with his quickly acquired playmates, Thumper and Flower; wintry fun when the fawn and rabbit take a spin on the ice, and desperation when the animals search through the snow for food. Evoking every emotion, the story fills with bitterness when Bambi's mother is felled by a hunter's bullet, and with love when the three "Twitterpated" friends meet their feminine match the following spring.

A peak of excitement is reached in autumn when Man again invades the forest, and becomes responsible for a devastating fire. Shot after rescuing his doe, Faline, from the jaws of hunting dogs, Bambi is led through the fire to safety by The Great Stag, and fittingly takes his father's place as guardian of the forest kingdom soon after.

North by Northwest is an Alfred Hitchcock suspense drama starring Cary Grant, Eva Marie Saint and James Mason.

Here are some of the picture's suspenseful highspots: Grant, in a case of mistaken identity involving international espionage, is threatened with his life when he is put into an alcoholic stupor and placed at the wheel of a speeding automobile. In a prairie wasteland, a crop-dusting plane swoops down on him, its occupants intent on destroying him with bullets and poisonous gas as he seeks escape in the nowhere. In a conference of the United Nations, he finds himself holding the blood-stained knife of a murderer!

Then there is Eva Marie Saint playing a mysterious girl who—when Grant, pursued by the police, boards a Chicago-bound train—hides him in her compartment. And some of the most sizzling love scenes ever shown on the screen take place in the upper berth!

Why does Miss Saint profess to love Grant and try to protect him one minute, then double-cross him and even trigger attempts on his life the next? What is she to James Mason? Why is Mason bent on murdering Grant? Why don't the police give Grant protection when, in an effort to unmask Mason, he tries to turn himself in?

The Yellow Rolls Royce is the story of the adventures of the machine's various owners and occupants. Starred are Ingrid Bergman, Rex Harrison, Alain Delon among others.

But it is the Rolls-Royce's final stage that gives the story its most hilarious moments, oddly enough in a setting of war and strife. A coup d'etat has placed the Queen of Yugoslavia's son on the throne and Hitler's troops are about to invade the country. This in no way deters Daisy Millett from continuing her projected visit and, when circumstances persuade her to help Davich to get into Yugoslavia via the trunk of the Rolls-Royce, thrilling adventures await them both.

In the face of relentless bombardment and strafing, the imperious Daisy, outwitting border guards and almost killing both Davich and herself with her erratic driving, forgets about her dislike for the man in the White House, ferries Davich's partisans in the Rolls-Royce, ministers to the wounded and becomes a heroine.

Hootenanny Hoot features the Brothers Four, Sheb, Wooley and Johnny Cash in a musical that swept the nation. There are 13 songs in the folk musical and nine top folk song artists. It is also a romantic comedy.

A lavishly produced tale of the Old West, "Partners" co-stars Dean and Jerry with Lori Nelson, Jeff Morrow and Jackie Loughery, with John Baragrey, Agnes Moorehead and Lon Chaney heading the supporting cast. The plot is authentic Western, except that with Martin and Lewis as heroes, it's the daftiest Western you've ever seen.

Cast in dual roles, Dean and Jerry are seen first as pioneer ranchers who die gamely at the hands of raiders, and then as their own sons, who team up years later back on the ranch. In the interim, however, Jerry has grown up a Park Avenue socialite and his tenderfoot antics are hilarious. They become more comical yet when by a fluke he wins the job of sheriff only to find the raiders are rampaging again and it's his job to bring 'em in. With Dean's help, he blunders in and out of the wildest, most side-splitting adventures.

Stiff Upper Lip On Ponderosa As Bridge Film Beats Ratings

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — There was no panic at Ponderosa two weeks ago when Bonanza failed to beat an opposing program for the first time in six years.

After all, the program was the three-hour film Bridge on the River Kwai, which cost $1,800,000 to present. The Bonanza bunch figured correctly that the Sunday night audience would return to the Ponderosa, since no sponsor could afford such a stipend on a regular basis.

Bonanza continued its winning ways last Sunday with a two-partner concerning Mormon polygamy, The Pursued. The second half of the film appeared Sunday; it starred Dina Merrill and Eric Fleming, who was drowned last week on a Peruvian film location.

Two-partners and occasional name guest stars are the only departures from the customary format of Bonanza. The man who dictates these conditions is David Dortort, who created the series and has guided it as producer since its start.

His view of the show's success: "Bonanza is more than a western. It has a far greater range of story than other westerns, yet it has enough of the elements to appeal to the western buff."

But the compelling reason for continuing supremacy of Bonanza in the audience polls, Dortort says, is the surefire appeal of the leads: Canadian-born Lorne Greene, Dan Blocker and Michael Landon.

"The combination of actors is unique and successful," said the producer. "Each developed as a separate personality—Lorne as the father figure, Dan as the hearty, solid older brother, Mike as the impetuous younger brother. The boys do a solid job. Each knows his own character and its limitations, and they won't let writers or directors go too far afield."

Vancouver's Cultural Pulse Has A Surprise During Test

VANCOUVER (CP) — Promoters are praising the up-beat of Vancouver's cultural pulse.

And the pulse-taking, in a survey of leading cultural organizations and their executives shows some surprising facts.

For instance, the Vancouver Opera Association draws 97 per cent houses, which gratifies the association manager, Jim Norcop.

"In most places, that's unheard of," he said. "We outdo Seattle, which is a much bigger city, by up to three performances to one, and we draw about 25,000 paying customers a season."

Chicago, which has a full 10-week season, draws about 50,000.

He said a new company, called the Vancouver Opera Ensemble, is in the planning stage. It will serve as a training ground for young professionals and will work in co-operation with the opera association.

Richard Simmins, director of the Vancouver Art Gallery, said his gallery ranks second in Canada, behind Toronto.

"It's on a par with the Walker Art Centre in Minneapolis and the San Francisco Museum of Art," he said. "And that's going some."

He said the gallery's permanent collection, aside from Emily Carr's works, could stand improving but he intends to concentrate instead on temporary exhibitions.

Vancouver Symphony manager Victor White said that, while the orchestra isn't making a profit, it's doing rather well.

MAP UNSEEN SIDE

Russian scientists have identified 3,500 and named 153 features on the far side of the moon.

"I don't imagine any cultural enterprise is more expensive than a season of symphony. We don't make any profit, and we don't ever expect to make any profit. There isn't a symphony orchestra in the world that does."

What the orchestra has, he said, is sufficient grants from the federal and city governments, and from private and corporate sources to present a well-balanced and effective season.

One local cultural outfit that does show a profit is the Playhouse Theatre Company, which in three years has developed into one of the country's hottest cultural enterprises.

"If we ran nothing but sure-fire shows like Stop The World, I Want to Get Off and Eric Nicol's Like Father Like Fun, we'd be rolling in money," said its administrative director, Richard Lafferty.

MIX THEM UP

"Unfortunately, we wouldn't be doing the job I think we should be, that is, presenting also theatre that is classical and we wind up filling a need."

He said attendance at the playhouse next season should top 100,000.

Famous Artists Ltd., representative Hugh Pickett, who brought the Royal Ballet and Bolshoi Ballet to town, said he will continue to bring big shows to Vancouver whenever he can.

"When we book a big company, we've sold out almost immediately. People in this town are clamoring for more shows by the time the run is over and we always make a healthy profit."

"I could have kept the Bolshoi here another few days easily," he said. "But they wanted to get back home."

Christie Play Hits Trouble

BIRMINGHAM, England (Reuters)—An anti-discrimination group has attacked the title of detective-story writer Agatha Christie's play Ten Little Niggers, due to open here next week.

The Anti-Racial Discrimination Committee called for a change of title in the play.

The movie version of the play was called Ten Little Indians. The play was put on in Nairobi, Kenya, as Ten Little Redskins.

Preminger Unlikely Chap To Be Found In Batman Series

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — "One billion dollars the citizens of Gotham City will pay me, or I will bury them all under one huge cake of ice, exactly like a million years ago!"

The villain delivering this threat was the unlikely of actors to be found on a Batman set: Otto Preminger. At least it appeared to be Otto Preminger, though it was heard to tell with blue makeup covering his egg-bald head and reddish eyebrows flaring.

When he spoke in the familiar Teutonic tones, there could be no doubt that the man in the silver jump suit was the volatile Preminger. Yet he seemed the most docile of actors.

"I follow directions implicitly," he insisted. "I always appear on the set on time, and I know my lines perfectly. I am setting a good example for all actors."

Preminger was portraying the latest of the Batman menaces, Mr. Freeze, a diabolical figure who plans to make Gotham City into one huge ice cube unless his demands are met. The director knew his lines but stumbled over "freezy frost factory," in which he had turned Batman and Robin into human popsicles.

WILL THEY THAW?

Will they thaw in time to save Gotham City from Mr. Freeze's icy scheme? What's your guess?

After finishing his scene, Preminger paused to chat. He generally does his acting behind the camera, but that has not always been true.

"I gave up acting when I was 21," said the director. "In 1939 I was directing a play, Margin for Error, which called for a Nazi type. A noted German actor was playing the role, but one day in rehearsals he left me a note saying, 'I am going back to Adolf.'"

"There were a number of refugee actors in New York then, but all looked too Jewish to play the role. I am Jewish, too, but with a scar and a monocle I could look like a Nazi. So I played the role for a year, then came out here for Pied Piper with Monty Woolley, the film version of Margin for Error and one other."

Except for the prison camp commandant in Stalag 17, Preminger gave up his Nazi portrayals for film making. His re-

FM Fan-Fare

By Charles Patrick

If you are in the bracket of people who are doing something else than just looking at the new cars being displayed these days, and are actually considering purchasing one, here's a timely tip. One of the innovations on the option list these days is an FM AM radio.

Because there'll be times undoubtedly when you will be in areas across the country or the 49th parallel where FM radio prevails, you'd be wise to consider the advantages of the FM sound spectrum obtainable when having FM radio in your car. For travelling up or down the Okanagan, you'll find CJOV-FM available wherever you go. It's worth the investment when you are considering your car radio in your new car. FM makes the difference in total quality sound.

One of the CJOV-FM features we have hardly emphasized in this column is the Tuesday night segment of FM Variety Showcase heard at 8:10 to 9 p.m. This segment is Piano Profiles. This program features the best of today's modern piano stylists, usually backed up by an instrumental group or orchestra in currently popular standard selections of the generally appealing type. Artists like Roger Miller, George Shearing, Carmen Cavallero and others in their bracket make for a really pleasant program.

FIFTY MINUTES

While we are referring to FM Showcase, we also remind you of the other evenings that make up the total variety heard at 8:10 p.m. for 50 minutes. Monday evening is Classics For A Monday. This program hosted by Gloria, offers the nicest of all time popular light operatic melodies. Rudolph Friml, Sigmund Romberg, Oscar Hammerstein hits are the type of offerings heard. There are many others too. Vocalists like Gordon MacRae and Dorothy Kirsten sing the melodies with well orchestrated accompaniment and chorus support. Wednesday evening you can hear variations of continental and ethnic music. Thursday evening's FM Star Time features a top star from the world of music in either male or female vocal selections or an instrumentalist of note. Orchestrated music is the standard on this feature too.

The star is stylized as a guest from time to time throughout the program. Popular on Friday night is the Folk program featuring soloists and groups with the currently smooth folk songs. You'll also hear folk songs that have lived through the years. Saturday at 8:10 p.m. is when Gloria introduces the big bands of the land of yesterday and today. When we say the bands of yesterday we refer of course only to those bands that have lived because of their fame right through from the Second World War to the present, or those bands which came in to prominence since then. Examples: The Glen Miller orchestra which carried on following Major Miller's death. Tommy Dorsey, Jimmy too, and others like Guy Lombardo, Les Brown and the rest of the all time greats. The title of the program is Big Band Beat and there's not a beatle beat anywhere in this one. FM Variety Showcase follows the nightly ten minutes of world news at 8 p.m. on CJOV-FM. The latter fills in nicely the gap left by the lack of CBC news which used to be available at 7 p.m. from the network.

IRISH GUARDS BAND

Looking at the highlights of the week ahead starting with this week-end: Two beautiful suites will be heard tonight on Symphony Hall at 9 to 10 p.m. Puccini's Madame Butterfly and his La Boheme Suite will be heard orchestrally as performed by the Hollywood Bowl Symphony conducted by famed motion picture composer musician, Alfred Newman. Saturday at 8 p.m. the hopeful Lions will attempt to keep up that winning trend when they meet the Regina team in football in the Empire Stadium and CJOV-FM will join the private network carrying the game.

Sunday afternoon Gord Bromley opens brand new albums on Premiere of Music at 3 to 4 p.m. He tells us he'll sample Beatle band music by The Irish Guards Band, Barrel Organ goes pops and Ballads of the Cossacks will be some of the other offerings which includes new film scores by Stanley Black's orchestra.

Tony Lockhorst's musical travelogue program with the continental trend makes for very pleasant change of pace listening at 4 to 5 p.m. Music From The Movies features the cross section of the best motion picture themes of today and yesterday at 5 to 5:30 p.m. Sunday Serenade following until 8

Will A Real Life Married Team Go Over With The Movie Public

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Will movie audiences go for a real-life husband and wife as a romantic duo on the screen?

Warner Brothers hopes so. The studio has cast Christopher Jones and his wife, Susan Strassberg, as young lovers in a new film called Chubasco.

"It's much easier to play romantic scenes," she says. "Most of the time you do love scenes with strangers; by the time you become acquainted and work together with ease, the scene is over."

"It works out well, except when she (Susan) gets too set in her performance," says Jones. "Then I just reach around and slap her on the rear and she comes out of it."

THEY'RE EXCEPTION

Director Allen Miner observed that most young marrieds lack the "chemistry" to play lovers on the screen. The Joneses are the exception in Chubasco, he added.

"Chemistry" is a favorite Hollywood expression to indicate the appeal and interplay of a co-starring pair. From a cursive glance at film history, it would appear that married stars fail to set off a chemical p.m. provides ideal Sunday evening leisure music.

This Sunday at 8 to 10 p.m. in the usual Strings and Things slot, a CJOV-FM special will be offered for lovers of drama. The British National Theatre company's version of Shakespeare's Much Ado About Nothing will be presented in its entirety.

Monday evening the B.C. Lions will meet Calgary at Vancouver and the CJOV-FM joining of the special network carrying this football classic will be at 8 p.m. Comedy Star Time on Tuesday at 4 to 5 and 10 to 11 p.m. features Jackie Mason and Vaughn Meader. Thursday's FM Theatre spotlights a special Boston Pops concert featuring music of State Fair and other hits.

CHARLIE CRACKS A BONE

Charlie Chaplin, his left ankle in a plaster cast after breaking a bone in it, rests in his suite at London's Savoy Hotel. Chaplin, 77, fell at Pine-wood Studios near London while walking from the commissary after lunch. He is editing the final version of his first movie in years, "The Countess from Hong Kong." Doctors told him to rest the ankle for 48 hours and said it would be in a cast for from six to eight weeks.

Screen Writer High Man Of Hollywood Totem Pole

The screen writer, once low man on the totem pole in Hollywood's hierarchy, in recent years has become a key figure in the moviemaking process, earning huge sums. But many still are unhappy. Bob Thomas explores the upturn of fortune for scenarists in a three-part series. The first follows.

By BOB THOMAS

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Jobs are plentiful and he is earning a bigger salary than ever before. The prestige of his profession is rising, but not fast enough to please him. For that reason and because of the conditions under which he must write, he is unhappy.

That is the state of the American film writer today. More money is being paid to writers than at any time in history. During the seasonal high of May, all but a hundred of the 1,172 active members of the Writers Guild of America, West, were employed — 906 in television and 166 in feature movies. That compared with a total of 516 in 1962 and 363 in 1956.

Total earnings for guild members (12 per cent are women) in the last year were $31,700,000 — $19,200,000 from TV and $12,500,000 from movies. The total five years ago was $22,300,000.

A top-flight TV writer can turn out a dozen scripts a year at an average $1,500 fee apiece. The best movie writers may earn from $100,000 to $250,000 a script.

Once Hollywood believed that glamorous stars and glossy production were all it took for a successful film. Now there is general acceptance of the notion that a sound story is indispensable.

Despite his added prestige the film writer is beset with frustrations.

He often sees his best scenes mangled or misinterpreted by the director. "It still happens," says Billy Wilder (Some Like It Hot) "that the director will rewrite the script after a long conference with his wife." Unlike play wrights, the screen writer has no control over such editing.

"Films are a director's medium, and for reasonable and valid reasons," remarks Rod Serling (Seven Days, in May). "In films you are dealing with material that is only half-alive until the visual aspect is added."

"The trouble is that the writer is the last man on the pole when the visual aspect is added. The producer, director and actor give their perspective, but seldom the writer. Yet he has conceived the project and has spent the most time on it."

A movie writer makes this observation of status in Hollywood: "When a studio has a big premiere, they send a limousine for the director. The writer? He has to drive his own car."

Liz And Dick Handed Award

ROME (Reuters) — Elizabeth Taylor and Richard Burton won Tuesday the Silver Mask Award, Italy's equivalent of Hollywood's Oscar, as best movie actors of the year. It was not awarded for their work in any particular film.

Sister Smile Won't Be Nun

BRUSSELS, Belgium (Reuters)—A 28-year-old Dominican novice known as Soeur Sourire (Sister Smile), the singing nun whose records became world hits, will not take her full monastic vows to be a nun after all, says a Dominican spokesman.

Instead she will become a "Dominican at large" — a lay Dominican — so that she can carry on singing. The spokesman said she will "spread the love of God throughout the world at large" through her inspired songs.

The spokesman is from the Dominican convent of Notre-Dame de Fischermont, near Waterloo, where the singing nun — Sister Luc - Gabrielle, whose lay name is Janine Deckers — now is staying.

He said Sister Luc-Gabrielle's decision was made with the blessing of her superiors. She now will sing under another name, to mark a new stage in her apostolic mission which will concentrate on cultural and artistic quarters, he added.

Her most popular song was Dominique.
